Common Agile Values

Courage

The courage to take risks and to course correct as we learn

Openness

Openness means being inwardly receptive to new and differing ideas and being outwardly transparent with my team.

Remote Ways of Working Values

Trust

Enough trust to let self-directed teams find their own solutions

Respect

Respect for all voices as teams iterate toward greatness.

Empathy

Empathy, first for each other, then for our users.

Leaders who focus on building trust, respect and empathy into a remote workforce culture are helping their employees be the best versions of themselves, both physically and mentally.

It is about Outcomes, not hours

- Set specific metrics, clarity of outcome
- Demonstrate Trust and Empathy
- Encourage open and clear communication
- Avoid continuous check-ins, track progress with asynchronous updates
- Provide actionable feedback on outputs, not hours

Lack of Trust promotes Electronic Presenteeism

Always being 'on' by answering emails or texts at all hours of the day, or always sitting in on as many zoom meetings as possible

49%

Almost half of Australian workers feel that only lip service and “box ticking” is being paid to their mental health by employers rather than concrete measures and genuine empathy.

Survey conducted by Australian College of Applied Professions (ACAP), included 1000 Australians

The highest performing teams have one thing in common – psychological safety.

IBM Work from Home Pledge

I pledge to be Family Sensitive.

I pledge to support Flexibility for Personal Needs.

I pledge to support “Not Camera Ready” times.

I pledge to Be Kind.

I pledge to Set Boundaries and Prevent Video Fatigue.

I pledge to Take Care of Myself.

I pledge to Frequently Check In on people.

I pledge to Be Connected.

Being kind is doing what helps people get better tomorrow.

Respect

4

Being polite is saying what makes people feel good today.

It's not just about exhaustion, it's also about loneliness

Key considerations for organisations embracing the Remote WoW

Organisational Values

Don't Introduce All New Tools at Once

New Remote WoW Champions

Communication, Communication, Communication

Consistent Messaging on the New WoW

Don't try to replicate the 'In-office' experience

People will forget what you said,
people will forget what you did,
but people will never forget how you made them feel.
